Looks good, some minor comments:

“Linc” not “Link”

- For the Dewey Burdock site, EPA is collaborating with WYDEQ for help with capture zone analysis. There is more field collected data for this site.

I wouldn't characterize this as a collaboration, more that WDEQ has offered to help EPA by running a GW model.

Hey Everyone – I tried to capture what we discussed below. Let me know if something is off. Once we have it captured I'll send it on to Judy and see if we can clarify what she has in my for R8's internal role with capture zone analyses moving forward. Thanks so much for meeting today!!! Greg – feel free to pipe in on whatever - I hope you are feeling better!!
